SCHOOL REPORT

To the Superintending School Committee and the Citizens of Sorrento:

In spite of wartime conditions your own school program thus far continues to move ahead rather than backward. This progress now is slow to be sure, and perhaps mostly on the material side. The number one national home front problem, namely, juvenile delinquency, has not yet become of serious consequence locally. It is true your boys and girls seem more restless than usual, but for the most part they are staying on in school. However, there are signs on the horizon, and it will behoove us as parents and teachers to bring the home and school closer together for the well-being of your own children. In line with this point of view your school asks for your complete cooperation on the following points:

1. Do not permit your child to be absent from school even a single half day unless excused by the school authorities by reason of sickness or some unavoidable emergency. This is important.
2. Provide time and place for quiet home study, preferably in the evening, not not exceeding one-half hour for elementary pupils and at least one hour for high school students. Pupils who stay "in" nights as a rule do the best work in school.
2. Your child should not become accustomed to the idea of getting something for nothing. Kindly accept the teacher's judgment in the matter of rank and promotions. We would prefer not to grant "A" rank unless it is deserved; we feel it unwise to promote a pupil with credit who knowingly and intentionally shirks responsibilities as a member of his group by reason of continued unexcused absenteeism; flagrant disregard for the regulations of the school or because of persistent lazy work habits.
4. Perhaps the biggest challenge of the moment is the failure of too many pupils not to work up to the limits of their individual capacities. The school must and shall insist upon better work attitudes and we desperately need the full backing of every parent. Not only are the standards of school at stake but the value each boy puts on his own worth is hanging in the balance.

5. Do not talk over the real or imagined shortcomings of his teacher in front of your child. Too many children today do not know the meaning of respect and courtesy. If you intentionally or unintentionally foster ill will and disrespect on the part of your son for his teacher, the effect will be lasting. He will soon come to have no regard for any adult of the community, business man or neighbor, and this attitude may even eventually include his own parents.
6. If a situation develops at school which causes you concern, kindly consult the teacher first and as soon as possible. If the matter is not cleared up to your satisfaction permit the superintendent of schools to arrange for a meeting of yourself and the teacher, preferably at the school. If this is not convenient, then at your home. If you are still dissatisfied, request a school committee hearing at which time all parties concerned will be present. If then not satisfied, you may properly present your problem to your State Commissioner of Education, Augusta, Maine. At no time should you "air" your differences among your neighbors. Your child's faith in his school has real meaning. Please do not destroy it.
7. The old adage that you get what you pay for applies in a pertinent way to the value you place on your boy's education. It costs money to keep good teachers, provide text-books, workbooks, paper supplies, globes, maps, reference books, and other modern teaching devices. Support the requested appropriations thereby placing the same high value on your boy's training that his teacher does. We know what an adequate program costs and will not suggest more than the community can reasonably afford.

We, your son's teacher and I, believe, too, that he is worth the investment of a sound training and a thorough education; that he is one of the real assets of the community. Someday, somehow, more opportunities must be provided these different sons and daughters as they advance along the highroad of their respective careers. Perhaps a town sponsored scholarship annually awarded to a deserving boy or girl upon graduation from high school might lead the way. Whatever the solution, many an eager young ambition is being frustrated each year for lack of opportunity to prove itself. Can you afford not to provide the helping hand?

Respectfully submitted,

R. H. HASKINS,

Superintendent of Schools.

NURSE'S REPORT

To the Citizens and Town Officers of Sorrento:

I submit my report of the Nursing Service given from January 1, 1943, to December 31, 1943.

The winter weighing of 16 pupils was completed in January. At this time consultations relative to corrections and ways of getting them done were held with both teacher and pupils.

During April the Cancer program and Early Diagnosis Campaign for the prevention of tuberculosis were emphasized. Posters were exhibited and a set of Early Diagnosis pamphlets were sent to each home represented at school.

Typhoid immunization was offered as a new feature in the school program this year. Fourteen children were taken to the clinic at Sullivan high school.

Vaccination against smallpox is also a part of the school program. All the pupils have been vaccinated except two who did not wish to be and vaccination is not a legal health requirement.

Eight infants and pre-school children attended the clinic at Sullivan in June. Dr. Crowe of Ellsworth was the examining doctor.

The opening week of school, skin inspection was completed, also sanitary inspection of buildings and playground. Equipment was checked at this time. Routine schoolroom visits have been made, also special classroom inspections and help with health problems given the teacher whenever needed.

The annual inspection was completed in October. Number of pupils inspected, 18; number with defective vision, 1; defective glands, 2; defective throats, 7; defective teeth, 9; nervous defects, 1; defective speech, 2. Corrections made: Throat, 2; teeth, 2.

Notices of defects were sent to parents or a home visit made. A complete report was left with the teacher and superintendent of schools.

During the year 147 home visits of instruction and investigation have been made to pre-natal patients, babies, pre-school children, school children and adults for bedside care and to give nursing care or treatment as ordered by doctor.

In closing, I extend thanks to all who have helped in any way with the success of the Nursing Service, and for the splendid cooperation of selectmen, members of the school board, superintendent of schools, teachers and parents.

Respectfully submitted,
